
GLOSSARY

ACCOUNTING:

The activity of providing quantitative information, primarily financial in nature, that is intended to be useful in making economic decisions; the process of measuring recording, summarizing and reporting the assets, liabilities and owner's equity of an enterprise and the changes in them.

ACCOUNTING PERIOD:

A length of time established as a period for which accounting activity will be recorded, summarized, and reported. Accounting periods provide the divisions required for comparative financial analysis. Normally, they are established monthly and quarterly for interim statements and annually for completed audited statements and disclosures.

ACCOUNTS PAYABLE:

All amounts owed for goods, properties or services which were purchased on credit and have been received. See definition of accrued liabilities, below,

ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE:

All amounts owed to an entity for facilities or services that were provided during the current or prior accounting period(s). (Rent that is due or overdue, including government Rent Supplement amounts, is a common example of an account receivable).

ACCRUAL BASIS OF ACCOUNTING:

The method of accounting in which come is recognized when earned (regardless of when cash has been received) and expenses are recognized when incurred (regardless of when cash has been paid).

ACCRUALS:

Entries made at the end of an accounting period which are due entirely to the use of the accrual basis of accounting; e.g., to record expenses incurred but not paid.

ACCRUED LIABILITIES:

Amounts computed by an entity as owed to outsiders for goods or services received but not invoiced. Examples include utilities and wages where the service period does not coincide with the financial statement period of the project.

GLOSSARY

AMORTIZATION:

- (1) The portion of a mortgage payment which represents a payment of principal.
- (2) The spreading of the cost of certain assets over more than one accounting period.

ASSETS:

Economic resources used by the business entity and expected to benefit future operations.

AUDITING:

The examination of financial statements and their underlying data to determine whether the statements are fairly and consistently stated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Auditing is done by CPAs, others licensed by the state to do such work, or authorized by government agencies.

BALANCE SHEET:

The basic financial statement which presents the assets, the liabilities and owner's equity of an entity at a point in time. The total of the assets must equal (balance) the total of the liabilities and owner's equity.

BOOKKEEPING:

The process of recording transactions in an entity's books of accounts.

CAPITAL:

The dollar balance of the amount Of ownership interest of the owners of an entity. Also referred to as Owner's Equity.

CONTRA ACCOUNT:

An account established to record offsetting liabilities or reductions in value to another account(s). Examples of contra accounts include Accumulated Depreciation of Buildings and Equipment, Allowances for Doubtful Accounts Receivable, and the liabilities applicable to security deposit accounts. The manner in which contra accounts are to be reported on financial statements varies, but usually are shown separately as subtractions from the account(s) to which they are contra.

CURRENT ASSETS:

Cash and other assets that are reasonably expected to be realized in cash or used up during the normal operating period of a business, typically one year.

CURRENT LIABILITIES:

Obligations due to be paid or settled within the normal operating period of a business, typically one year.

DEBT SERVICE:

The interest and principal due on a mortgage note. Does not include impounds or reserve fund contributions, but can include Mortgage Insurance Premium.

DEFAULT:

There are two types of defaults: (1) fiscal and (2) covenant.

- (1) A monetary, or fiscal, default exists when the owner fails to make any payment due under the mortgage.
- (2) A covenant default exists when the owner fails to perform any other covenant under the provisions of the mortgage or of the regulatory agreement, which is incorporated into the mortgage. A lender becomes eligible for insurance benefits on the basis of a covenant default only after the lender has accelerated the debt and the owner has failed to pay the full amount due, thus converting the covenant default to a monetary default.

DEPRECIATION:

The process of distributing the cost of fixed assets over a period of years, in a systematic and rational manner.

DIRECT METHOD (for Statement of Cash Flows):

Refer to Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Statement No. 95.
