Expiration of HUD approvals for non-profits during the government shutdown

Expiration of HUD approvals for non- profits during the government shutdown

FHA is aware of concerns regarding the expiration of HUD approvals for non-profits during the period of the government shutdown. Due to the government shutdown, FHA currently cannot review and approve non-profit applications or update the existing list of HUD-approved non-profits. Lenders may continue to rely on the existing list of approvals as valid for the duration of the government shutdown and FHA will not consider any approval to be expired during this time. All new and renewal applications will be reviewed and processed as quickly as possible after the government reopens and the list of HUD-approved non-profits will be updated at that time.
