Keeping in Touch with HUD

System Coordinators are responsible for updating e-mail address when changing internet providers. Assuring that e-mail addresses are up-to-date and relevant better enables communication with HUD. Further, owners and managing agents are responsible for notifying the HUD Field Office of business address changes as this expedites communication with HUD.

- E-mail Address Changes

To update or verify an e-mail address, please visit our FASSUB Secure Connections website. From the System Administration section of Secure Connection, select 'User ID Maintenance' and 'Maintain User Information' to verify or update your current e-mail address on file in the system and make necessary corrections. This e-mail address will be used to communicate the results of HUD's initial assessment of the annual financial statement information.

- Business Address Changes

Regarding your business address, please verify and update changes through the local HUD Project Manager servicing your project. Please remember to use only a post office number or street address. The U.S Postal Service will not accept both. If using a street address, don't forget to include a suite number, if applicable. These small efforts help us achieve the bigger effort of better serving you, our valued client.
